A MESSAGE FROM THE TEACHER

Third quarter report cards are now available via Parent Portal. Please e-mail if you have any questions or would like to meet about your child's progress. If you would rather wait until end-of-year testing takes place, the best time to meet is the last week in May.

Recycle projects are due Thursday. Parent help is allowed, but students should do the planning and write-up. Students should include the projects purpose or use in the write up.

Thank you to all 10 parents who volunteered for the field trip! This puts us above the 1-2 adult-student ratio we like to max out at. I will be meeting with the other teachers on Wednesday to consider if the bus and group size limit for the caverns will accommodate all volunteers and let volunteers know by Friday.

LAST WEEK'S HIGHLIGHTS

Literacy: Flossie and the Fox, identifying nouns in free-choice books

Writing: cursive writing, Bio-Poems

Math: using inches and non-standard units to estimate, measure, and compare lengths, identifying and labeling partial units, time to the 5 minutes

Science/SS: predicting weather, weather forecasting, weather tools, Guidance: using a social filter.

Other fun stuff: STEM: building paper tables, tennis option at recess
